ISU Entrepreneur Alumni Center events

On December 3d Ilia State University Entrepreneur Alumni Center organized a job fair for the students. More than 20 companies participated with vacancies and internships in enterprises. Today, ISU students are already employed on different jobs. The next job fair is planned to be held in late spring so that each Georgian partner university will have ability to participate.

The center successfully continues the series of workshops EANET TALKS. The next talk is planned to be on December 17th. The speaker is the member of the center, who recently arrived from Israel Innovations Fair. His workshop topic is “Key to Success for Startups on the Example of Israel”. The workshop will be held for every student who is interested in entrepreneurship and innovations. The project will continue in 2016 and each EANET TALKS event will be held at ISU.

Has the business model canvas been hacked by Tristan Kromer?

At HvA entrepreneurship education we think, talk, smell, live “BCM” of Alexander Osterwalder. It’s our common language. Last year we got in contact with Tristan Kromer from the USA. He brought some new interesting insights to the BCM. If you are interested in finding out what his insights are, check grasshopperherder.com.

Next week I have a Skype meeting with him. If you are interested in his work and have some questions for him. Send them to me I can ask him. The subject we are going to discuss is his plan to do a train the trainer in Europe and probably it’s nice for HvA to host this and take part of this training

Alumni in the Jubilee Book of University

To commemorate the anniversary since establishment of Kharkov National Automobile and Highway University (KhNAHU), Ukraine, a very catchy, beautiful and interesting book-album has been designed and published. The book reflects the history of university and achievements for 85 years of university scientific and pedagogic activities, it presents biographies of outstanding pedagogues and scholars who set up well-known scientific schools in the fields of motor car construction, transport and road construction. Faculties, departments and other divisions are presented as they are nowadays in the university. A third of the jubilee book is devoted to the university alumni who became successful in their professional activity, made their ALMA MATER famous, created good reputation for their pedagogues and scholars, proliferated traditions and achievements of university.

During the jubilee celebrations, the publisher (LOGOS-Kiev) made the presentation of the book. He informed guests about the stages of work over the book, expressed his gratitude to the project participants who researched in university evolution and provided texts for the book. The heartiest words were told to the alumni of KhNAHU who financed the project in order the book could be published. Alumni tell us about their work after graduation from the university, their achievements when making themselves a career, their enterprises and companies. The majority of our alumni are entrepreneurs and business people of a various status. While working over the book, they were informed about the EANET project and the establishment of the Association of alumni-entrepreneurs. Most alumni expressed their readiness to cooperate within the framework of the Association.

Having established and registered the Association of Alumni-Entrepreneurs of the Universities in Kharkov, Ukraine, in accordance with the tasks of the project, all the project participants challenge a major task – to promote the Association and involve partners-alumni for effective mutually beneficial activity. All the tasks have repeatedly been discussed at meetings with alumni-entrepreneurs, and the search of cooperation methods and arguments continues.

Kharkov National Automobile and Highway University (KhNAHU) has recently hosted a working meeting of alumni-entrepreneurs, university teachers and employees. Keeping in mind the idea that success of any business is determined by people, we have selected the most effectively working representatives in various fields of activity at university. The participants have had 'brainstorming' to study the problem. As a result, there are four directions of cooperation for alumni-entrepreneurs:

between the alumni-entrepreneurs within the Association on a university-based platform. The main task is to exchange business information, communicate, promote goods and services in the medium of the entrepreneurs; between the entrepreneurs and university students. The main task is to train students as entrepreneurs, to train well-qualified personnel and employ them in the future;

between the entrepreneurs and university scholars, specialists and teachers to get consultation in the fields of engineering, economy, law, psychology, expert assessment of decisions taken etc.;

between all the categories of employees, students, Masters, post-graduates and young scientists to establish, promote and put into practice start-up projects.

So, the programmes of activities in each field are developed, an executive officer is selected and the efficient working group of the EUNET-KhNAHU project is created.
